Dear Mrs. Manley:

The amount of insurance that I mentioned would cover gross receipts without considering what the expenses are or what the profits are. In other words, it would cover both expenses and profits. The $2,000 mentioned in my last letter as an example was meant to be gross gate receipts.

There is however this one restriction. The company will not insure for more than 60% of the gross gate receipts of the last previous similar game. This would be last year's opening game.

I strongly recommend that you insure for 1/20 of an inch. If we had done that last August we could have collected immediately without any question.

Yours sincerely
